We saw a significant impact on our revenue metrics, within the first nine months of onboarding MoEngage. The platform integrated smartly and seamlessly with our system and automated the entire process- with zero manual efforts. With MoEngage, we were able to execute drop-off management for our digital PL product successfully by cueing us into what stages customers were dropping off at and retargeting them effectively. Currently, we are experiencing a 20% increase in revenue, month-on-month, on an average.

Business Challenge

Piramal Finance's dedication to enhancing customer engagement and its growth trajectory drove it to streamline its customer engagement further. The brand was keen on improving its approach to creating precise customer segments, an initiative that demonstrates its commitment to optimizing its processes. Therefore, the team wanted to onboard a platform that came with stellar segmentation prowess, was agile and offered end-to-end campaign automation to further reinforce their dedication to excellent customer experiences.

MoEngage Solution

With the launch of Piramal Finance's digital PL product, managing engagement was proving to be challenging due to lack of real-time customer communication.

MoEngage's insights-led engagement platform significantly reduced the time it took for these communications to go out after disbursements, ensuring that customers received the information promptly. For example, in case of a technical glitch, the issue would be resolved and the same would be communicated to the customer promptly, improving the overall customer experience.

Omnichannel campaigns powered by precise segmentation capabilities

With MoEngage, Piramal Finance started capitalizing on channels like SMS, push notifications, WhatsApp, etc., to drive business revenue. Flows and Periodic Campaigns were some of the key features the brand used to automate customer journeys end-to-end.

MoEngage's advanced segmentation capabilities also allowed the brand to precisely segment its customers based on their preferences and behavior, a task that was previously manual.

Implementation Experience

The MoEngage Professional Services team provided active and immediate support to the financial services giant from the get go. The team actively supported the Piramal Finance's dev team, aiding with proper documentation and helping resolve the queries with immediate effect.

An example of the team's effectiveness was how they went about successfully completing the arduous, 13-step long process of setting up emails in 4 working days for Piramal Finance!
